Salzburg, 7 – 8 July

Welcome to AGIT 2027

As a well-established platform for Geoinformatics, the AGIT – formerly known as GI_Forum and GI_Salzburg – boasts a history of nearly 40 years. The conference was founded in 1988 by Josef Strobl in collaboration with Franz Dollinger.

The AGIT Conference serves as the annual hub for innovation, networking, and professional development across all areas of Geoinformatics. Interdisciplinary discussions, forward-looking ideas, and a personal touch characterize the exchange between academia, research, industry and practical applications.

This year, the AGIT Conference will once again take place at the Faculty of Natural and Life Sciences – formerly known as NaWi – located at Hellbrunner Straße 34 in the southern part of Salzburg.
